Vineyard planted in 1999 with a planting frame of 2 x 1 grown in bush vine and ecological philosophy.
Plot located in loam-clay soils (20 to 25% clay), facing South-West, with a moderate slope of 5% at an altitude of about 600m.

Winemaking

Manual harvest in boxes of 15 kg. Sorting table at the cellar.
Complete destemming.
Spontaneous natural fermentation without added sulphites in a small open tank.
Two-weeks skin maceration, with two manual punches a day.

Ageing

The wine is aged for 12 months in 2 semi-new French oak barrels (225 L and 500 L) Barolo style.

The Wine

Intense purple color of medium layer.
Very subtle and delicate nose of fresh red fruit (cherry, currant, raspberry), flowers (violet), spicy notes (pepper and cinnamon) and mineral touches.
The mouth of a large volume seduces by its beautiful harmony, its magnificent balance and by the fineness of its tannins. The aromas gain in complexity and intensity with a very good persistence.
A Mencía especially delicate and fine for lovers of great subtle wines.
